

Introductory Weekend Terms and Conditions

1. Eligibility - To be eligible to attend you must represent an organisation that has not previously visited the Lake District Calvert Trust. This offer is targeted at organisations that would be looking to bring groups of 12 people or more.
2. Two Per Room - Allocation is based on 2 people sharing a twin room. We reserve the right to put same-sex individuals from different organisations in the same room.
3. Course Fees - FREE Places - An organisation may qualify for a maximum of two places on the Introductory Weekend free of charge. Further places may be available at an additional cost, subject to availability, by contacting our bookings team on 017687 72255.
4. Deposit Payments - As our Introductory Weekend is very popular we request a refundable deposit of £50 per person. This deposit will be returned immediately after participation in the introductory programme. This deposit may be forfeit under exceptional circumstances.
5. Cancellation Deposits - These are subject to the Amendment or Cancellation by You clause as found in our General Terms and Conditions. Available online and on request.
6. Course Fees - Chargeable under exceptional circumstances an additional charge may be levied for places on this course. See items 7 & 8 in our General Terms and Conditions.
7. Participation - the Introductory Weekend is designed to give participants as much information as possible about the Lake District Calvert Trust and is an opportunity for delegates to gain first-hand experience of a multi-activity course. Course delegates are expected to take an active role in the course programme.
8. Future promotion - We require your co-operation regarding the promotion of future Intro. Weekends; we reserve the right to take photos/film of everyone during the weekend and acquire feedback either on camera or/and via a questionnaire. We will be using information collected to promote future courses (on social media/web/newsletters etc).
9. Failure to Participate - Should course delegates abuse the good-will of the Trust and /or fail to participate in the Introductory Weekend programme to a satisfactory level this may result in the forfeit of deposit.
